Trans-Tasman Endodontic Conference
Endodontics – Continue the Learning
Christchurch, New Zealand

SAVE THE DATES!
4-6 November 2010

After the success of the inaugural Trans-Tasman Endodontic Conference in Hobart, Tasmania in November 2008 the Australian Society of Endodontology is proud to invite you to attend their next conference to be held at the Hotel Grand Chancellor, Christchurch, New Zealand between Thursday 4 and Saturday 6 November 2010.

To register your interest please visit www.tteconference.com

CHRISTCHURCH 2010

The Conference will be held at the Hotel Grand Chancellor, Christchurch, conveniently positioned in central Christchurch within easy walk of major attractions and business districts. Christchurch is the international gateway to the South Island of New Zealand with major airlines flying directly to the city.

The Organising Committee is looking forward to developing a strong scientific program, superb social events and the best opportunities for continuing your education and further developing your skills.

Who should attend?

This conference will have broad appeal for all dentists with an interest in endodontic issues: general practitioners, all specialty groups and post-graduate students.

Why should they attend?

During the Conference delegates will be provided with a unique environment in which to continue learning and exploring the broad and exciting field of endodontics and endodontology.

Specialist Endodontists

The Conference will present delegates with opportunities to explore a range of issues facing endodontics in the future. The Trans-Tasman Endodontic Conference is the opportunity for delegates to hear the latest from the experts and will provide a unique forum for exchanging ideas and knowledge with colleagues from around the world.

General Practitioners

If endodontics forms any part of your practice then the Trans-Tasman Endodontic Conference must be included in your CPD calendar. It will be a hub of endodontic activity with high profile speakers, specialist endodontists, academics and major trade suppliers all in the one place at the onetime sharing a wealth of new information about current endodontic techniques and materials. This will provide exposure to the latest in endodontic research.

Students

The Trans-Tasman Endodontic Conference offers all students with an interest in endodontics exposure to key information and to practicing endodontists.
